The company's remuneration guidelines: scope, purpose and deviations

In order to execute strategic plans and deliver effective operational results to support the company's business strategy and long-term interests, including its sustainability, it is of fundamental importance to attract and retain senior executives and other employees with excellent competence. To obtain this it is important to sustain fair and internally balanced terms that are at the same time competitive on the market with respect to structure, scope and compensation levels. The remuneration guidelines enable the company, regardless of geographical market, to offer the senior executives a competitive total compensation. Under the remuneration guidelines, executive remuneration shall be on market terms and consist of a balanced combination of fixed- and variable remuneration as well as pension and other benefits. The variable remuneration shall be in relation to financial targets for the company as a whole as well as clearly stipulated individual non-financial targets in relation to certain duties of the respective executive. The latter is used to ensure focus on non-financial targets of special interest. The financial- and non-financial targets shall be designed to contribute to the company's business strategy as well as facilitate its long-term interests, including its sustainability. The most recently resolved remuneration guidelines are found on pages 76-79 in the annual report for 2022. During 2022, the company has complied with the applicable remuneration guidelines adopted by the general meeting in 2021. There have been no deviations from the guidelines, nor from the procedure for the implementation of the guidelines, in the financial year of 2022. The auditor's report regarding the company's compliance with the guidelines will be provided on the company's website along with other relevant documents before the annual shareholders' meeting 2023.
